Located along this quiet country lane on the outskirts of the village is this two bedroom terraced Victorian cottage, which benefits from being offered chain free. The generous living room with Parkray solid fuel fire and turning staircase to the first floor leads to the kitchen beyond, with a range of wall and base units, tiled flooring and window with doorway beside leading to the conservatory addition currently used as the dining room. A door from here leads to the rear garden and garage beyond. Upstairs, the property offers two double bedrooms and a separate three piece family bathroom.

Outside, there is a gated pathway to the double glazed front door and to the rear, a low maintenance 45' rear garden, with flower and shrub beds to both sides leading to the garage to the rear, accessed via a right of way leading behind the cottages, with additional shared on road parking to be found at the front of the property.

Providence Place, built in 1845, is a row of cottages located in Stonestile Road, approximately 1.4 miles from the centre of Headcorn.
